Chintamani.

The first of these is the fact that the system is not self-sufficient. It is dependent on the outside world for
 many of its needs.
 This is a serious
 weakness, and it
 must be remedied.
 The second is the
 fact that the system
 is not flexible. It
 is rigid and inflexible, and it cannot adapt
 to changing conditions.
 This is also a serious
 weakness, and it
 must be remedied.
 The third is the
 fact that the system
 is not efficient. It wastes a great deal of time and money, and it produces a great deal of waste. This is also a serious
 weakness, and it
 must be remedied.

The fourth is the
 fact that the system
 is not secure. It is vulnerable to attack
 from the outside world,
 and it is vulnerable to internal sabotage. This is also a serious
 weakness, and it
 must be remedied.

PREFACE TO REPORT.

I HANDED over the Curatorship of the Museum on 21st June 1920, before proceeding on long leave.

I am pleased to see an advance made in the arrangement of the Tibetan gallery and the purchase of some interesting new statuettes in this section.

The applied Art Section has also had some interesting additions made in carpets and embroidery and a better arrangement of the exhibits allows all the carpets to be exhibited in adjacent cases.

The treatment of all fabrics and the cases containing them with hydrocyanic gas was recommended by the Director-General of Archaeology. Every case was sealed up air tight after removing all exhibits and the gas generated in each case separately as it was impossible to close the gallery in which the fabrics are exhibited. The fabrics were opened out in selected cases of large size and disinfected in batches by renewing the gas generation each time. Every precaution was taken to avoid accidents during the operation and I have to thank Mr. Sana Ullah for the success of the process without accident of any kind.

The cases themselves were carefully repaired as far as possible to remove defects of fitting, but they will remain unsatisfactory and unsuitable receptacles for valuable exhibits.

While in England I arranged for the reproduction of 23 plates in colour and colotype for the catalogue of paintings now in the press. The Oxford University Press have submitted proofs of their high class reproductions so that I hope very shortly to have another Sectional catalogue to place before the student and lover of Indian painting.

As I have already mentioned in previous reports I consider a Museum founded for the benefit of the arts and crafts of the province is doing only part of its duty in exhibiting the old arts and crafts which in many cases, however interesting to the student and connoisseur, may be, by reason of changed tastes and requirements, of little practical help to the craftsman. Failing this much-needed help and encouragement of his indigenous crafts, the workman, to maintain himself was forced to take to the only work available which is copying of indifferent examples of western crafts. I therefore made proposal to Government that we should establish a permanent gallery for the exhibition of the best indigenous arts and crafts as at present practised, and with the help of the School of Arts, giving new inspiration through the use of good designs and method of application of traditional Indian Art, show the craftsman how he can revive interest in and demand for Indian craft work. The gallery would also form a central provincial depôt and agency for ready communication between the buyer and seller.

I am glad to report that the scheme received official sanction before I proceeded on leave. Show cases for the fitting of the gallery were designed and a start has been made in obtaining the best examples of provincial work under Mr. Gupta's Curatorship.

This department of the Museum will form the head office from which exhibits for the annual British Industries Fair in London will be despatched.

We have held our first Exhibition at the London Fair in February last and were able to show good results in sales and orders. I shall not have occasion to refer to this department of the Museum in future reports as it will be run as a separate section with its own office and organisation.

LIONEL HEATH.

Report on the Working of the Central Museum, Lahore, For the year 1920-21.

I took over charge from Mr. Lionel Heath who proceeded on leave to England, on the 21st of June 1920, and held this office till his return on the 25th of April 1921.

The total number of visitors during the year was 463,283 and the daily average was 1,316 as against 391,660 and 1,119, respectively in the previous year. The highest attendance was on the 28th of March 1921, when 4,945 persons passed through the turnstile.

The attendance table for the last five years is as under :—

1916-17	357,481
1917-18	361,563
1918-19	512,395
1919-20	391,660
1920-21	463,283

The Museum was closed to the public on the 25th of December 1920, on account of Christmas and for half the day on the 27th of January 1921, out of respect to the memory of Rai Bahadur Lala Mohan Lal who had been a member of the Managing Committee of the Victoria Jubilee Institute, Punjab, since 1905. In him the Committee loses a member who has been taking an interest in the affairs of the Museum for a long time.

The textile gallery remained closed to the public in May and June when the textiles were treated with poisonous gas for purpose of preservation. The Central and Western galleries were also closed from 28th October to 2nd February and from 28th November to 13th January respectively, when the central part of the roof of the picture gallery was being reconstructed.

In spite of the fact that nearly half of the Museum was closed for about five months it is gratifying to note that the number of visitors during the year is more than that of the previous year. While admitting this as an indication of the increased popularity of the Museum, it may be mentioned incidentally that the educational and cultural value of the institution is not yet appreciated by the public to the extent as it ought to be. The different collections afford opportunities of close study and research in various departments of arts, manufactures, history and archaeology and it is highly desirable that these facilities should be utilized for the advancement of knowledge as much as possible.

The total number of female visitors during the twelve Zenana Day. Zenana days in the year was 6,507 as against 7,556 in the previous year. The fall in number may be explained by the fact that during the closing of the Central and Western galleries the main gate in the front had to be closed and the side door in the east of the building was used with the result that visitors had to walk the distance from the main road to this door. Pardah Nashin ladies who did not wish to walk this distance probably did not visit the Museum during the period the main gate was kept closed.

The conduct of the public has, as usual, been good and there were no thefts or damages other than minor accidents.
Conduct of the public.

Educational Works of the Museum.

A course of 14 lantern lectures was arranged out of which eleven were delivered. The average attendance was 135 against 149 in the previous year. The Committee owes thanks to the ladies and gentlemen who so kindly consented to deliver the lectures. Lantern slides were loaned to lecturers throughout the province, North-West Frontier Province, Delhi and Cawnpore. They were much appreciated by all and the demand for them is steadily increasing.
Lectures and Slides.

The Lecture Hall and the Lantern were also lent on various occasions for educational purposes.
Lecture Hall.

As in previous years Wednesday was observed as Students' Day, but strictly speaking none but the students of the Mayo School of Arts derived benefit from this arrangement. It is desirable that students of local schools and colleges should also utilize the opportunity of visiting the Museum on Students' Day when the Museum is not congested as in other days.

A number of exhibits were borrowed and returned intact by the Mayo School of Arts, Borrowing of Exhibits. Aitchison Chiefs' College and the Society for Promoting Scientific Knowledge, Lahore.

The Entomologist to Government, Punjab, arranged an exhibition of silk worm rearing in one of the small rooms outside the main entrance of the Museum with a view to demonstrate to the public the entire process and various stages of rearing mulberry silk worms. The exhibition which was open on 24th February is almost at an end now. Exhibition of Silk worm rearing.

Additions.

A list of articles added to the various sections of the Museum during the year under report is given in Appendix "B."

Of the several accessions made in this section a Nepalese copper gilt pedestal (099) and the images of Buddha, Samvara with Sakti, Manjusri and Chintamani are of special interest. The pedestal and the seated Buddha are valuable examples of the finest type of Nepalese repoussé work. The cast brass figure of Samvara with Sakti is a welcome addition to the collection of Nepalese Buddhist statuettes in the Museum. The Iab Yum attitude of the figures may appear vulgar and objectionable to the lay public, but it should be tolerated for the sake of art as it furnishes an interesting specimen for study both to a lover of art and to a student of Buddhist iconography. Another notable addition to the series of gods of Mahayana Pantheon is the large image of Manjusri—the god of Transcendent Wisdom. The image of Chintamani, (Plate No. 1) though not very old, has beautiful qualities of modelling which appeal to all lovers of art. Nepalese Metal work.

Eight silver coins were received as presents from the various provincial Governments (vide Appendix "C.") Coins.

Mr. R. B. Whitehead having gone on combined leave out of India, Mr. H. Nelson Wright has been appointed Numismatist to Government, Punjab. No coins were dealt with under Treasure Trove Act during the year (vide Appendix "D").

Additions to the art textile collection include specimens of old South Indian silk saris, a cotton and Jari knot dyed sari from Rajputana. To the embroidery section an excellent set of specimens of different types of silk embroidery on satin for lady's skirts—lehengas—have been added. The acquisition in the carpets section were two rugs and a camel bag.

Additions to the picture gallery have not been numerous due to the fact that paintings of good quality are not frequently found.

Paintings.

Among the accessions the Abhisarika Nayika (0120) and Gajendra Moksha (0151) are the best. The former depicts a Nayika going on a dark night to meet her lover through a forest, in rain and lightening. The path is beset with serpents but the Nayika remains unconcerned and proceeds to the trysting place. (Poonch; early 19th century). The other picture (Plate No. 2) illustrates the story of the salvation of Indradyumna. King Indradyumna was a devout follower of Vishnu. He incurred the displeasure of the sage Agastaya and by his curse was born as an elephant. Once the elephant went to bathe in a lake in the Chitrakuta mountain and was seized by a mighty crocodile, which began to drag him into the water. The elephant could not escape and finding that he was doomed to death he prayed to Vishnu to save him; thereupon Vishnu came and slew the crocodile with his chakra, and saved his devotee who from that day resumed his original form. In this picture the crocodile is represented more or less like a serpent with a grotesque head. (Kangra; early 19th century).

A set of thirty-four metal seals have been lent by the Punjab Government for exhibition in the Museum (vide Appendix "E".)

Loan collection.

It is proposed to exhibit them along with other objects of the Sikh period.

A list of books acquired for the Museum Library during the year under report is shown in Appendix "F". Fifteen books were purchased out of the Museum funds and sixty-eight were received gratis.

Building.

The arched portion of the roof of the Central gallery has been dismantled and a new wooden roof covered with malthoid sheets has been constructed in order to avoid leakage and admit more light in the picture gallery. It is too early to say whether the new roof will permanently stop the leakage. It is much to be regretted that an unfortunate accident occurred while the old roof was being dismantled resulting in the fall of four workmen. All assistance was rendered to them at the time and they were removed to the hospital within a few minutes of the accident. The condition of these men was very precarious when they were sent to hospital.

Photographs and Guides.

Photographs of exhibits in the Museum were supplied to public on payment and the sale-proceeds amounting to Rs. 48-4-0 were credited to Government.

One hundred and eighty-two copies of Mr. Hargreaves' Buddha Story in Stone were sold and thirteen issued gratis. Rs. 91-11-0 on account of sale-proceeds of the guides were credited to Government.

Six copies of Mr. Rodger's coin catalogue were sold during the year and a sum of Rs. 10-11-0 was credited to Government.

Finance.

The expenditure was kept within the limit of the sanctioned grant, including the extra grant of Rs. 370 for liveries, etc., out of which only Rs. 2-2-3 were allowed to lapse to Government. A detailed statement of the accounts as checked by the Senior Auditor, Local Fund Accounts, is shown in Appendix "G". A special grant of Rs. 1,500 was received in March for the purchase of Nepalese gilt brass statuary which I had the opportunity of selecting while on a visit to Calcutta on duty in January.

As the catalogue of paintings in the Museum could not be printed within the year under report the special grant of Rs. 4,500 sanctioned by Government for the publication of the catalogue was surrendered and an application has been made to place the same amount at the disposal of the Curator in the current year. The catalogue will have seventeen monochrome and six coloured reproductions. The proofs of the former have already been received and it is expected that the catalogue will be out in the coming autumn.

Appendices.

The usual statements of accounts and list of additions to the Museum are appended herewith as well as the report of the Government Numismatist referred to under the head "Coins". I have also attached a brief report of the course of lectures given in the Lecture Hall of the Victoria Jubilee Institute, Punjab.

The Work done in the Museum and the Staff.

The services of Mr. Sana Ullah, Archæological Chemist in India, were very kindly placed at the disposal of the Museum for May and June by Sir John Marshall in order to disinfect the exhibits with hydrocyanic gas with a view to preserve them by destroying the insects which had got into the textiles. The total number of textiles treated by Mr. Sana Ullah was 615. It is too early to judge whether the effect of this treatment would last a considerable length of time.

Advantage was taken of the closing of the textile and western galleries to give additional attention to arranging, labelling and otherwise putting in shape the textile, musical instruments and armoury sections. Among the important changes made in the arrangement of exhibits are the removal of the ancient arms from the eastern to the western gallery and the placing of the musical instruments in the case formerly occupied by the old arms.

The work of renewing labels has not yet been completed but considerable progress has been made in this direction.

The work of the Museum staff during my tenure of service was satisfactory. It gives me pleasure to note that the Darogha is very energetic and gets the office work done by his assistants very promptly.

Needs of the Museum.

The most pressing need of the Museum is a substantial increase of funds for the improvement and expansion of the various collections. The present allotment is absolutely inadequate for the purpose. It is just enough to preserve the existing exhibits and make additions here and there, but this procedure would perhaps never yield very satisfactory results. There is no doubt that the collections taken as a whole are to-day in a better condition than they were in the past. But the ideal is still far distant. This ideal can never be achieved without adequate funds and proper attention. It is important that increased funds should be available without any loss of time so that opportunities of development may not be permanently lost. I may venture to point out that in the near future it may not be possible to make additions to certain sections, for instance, painting, old metal work, art textile, etc., for want of good specimens most of which are now being carried away outside India for other Museums.

The room containing Tibetan brass work is not sufficiently lighted. I think a large window on the south wall fitted with plate glasses would admit more light and show the exhibits better.

Since a very long time it has been the practice in the Museum that the Head Farrash has the charge of the keys of all the show cases containing exhibits. I do not consider this arrangement desirable. It is too heavy a responsibility for a chaprasi. The Darogha is responsible for the safety of the exhibits. During office hours the Darogha or one of the clerks can be present at the time when show cases are opened and he can be reasonably expected to be responsible for the contents of the cases, but during the rainy season the Head Farrash has to open the Museum and even show cases at night in order to remove exhibits from getting damaged through leakage of roofs. All this is done during the absence of the Darogha. I do not suggest that the present Farrash is not trustworthy. He is a very old servant and thoroughly honest; but I do not consider the arrangement safe and sound. It is not fair that the responsibility should be divided between the Darogha and the Head Farrash like this. Either the Darogha should retain all the keys with him at all hours of the day and night and should be present at the time whenever show cases are opened or he should not be held responsible for every thing in the Museum. The best solution of this difficulty would perhaps be to provide the Darogha with quarters near the Museum in order to enable him to come to open cases when necessary.

Besides the collection of coins catalogued by Mr. Whitehead there are numerous coins in the Museum safe. It is desirable that in order to avoid the acquisition of unnecessary and duplicate coins there should be a regular list of these coins and that they should be arranged in groups for ready reference both for this office as well as for the use of the Director-General of Archaeology in India and other numismatists, particularly for the distribution of Treasure Trove coins. The Darogha who has done some numismatic work before may be entrusted with this work.

The library also requires considerable expansion. It should embrace a wider range of subjects relating to the contents of the Museum so that it may be made use of as a reference library for research purposes. To facilitate this a special and separate fund for purchasing books should be sanctioned.

The Museum has materials of considerable value and unusual interest and their usefulness would be greatly increased by further systematic development.

S. N. GUPTA,

Offg. Curator, Central Museum, Lahore.

The lectures were well advertised and admission tickets were distributed freely among college students through the principals and the attendance was satisfactory. The total number of the audience was 1,484 and the average was 135 as against 1,787 and 149, respectively, in the previous year. A sum of Rs. 65-2-0 being the sale-proceeds of tickets was credited to Government.

The lecturers and the gentlemen who presided at the lectures deserve the thanks of the Committee for the generous way they gave their services free in the interest of Education and thus enabled me to draw up an interesting programme. My special thanks are due to Miss M. Bose and Miss Fazal for delivering purdah lectures which were well attended to.

The Lecture Hall was used by the Panjab University and the Education Department and the extra lantern was borrowed by several lecturers for educational purposes.
